

Greetings Edison Families, this is Principal Munoz

Thanks to the families that were able to join us for Back To School Night last week. It was an awesome event and provided valuable information for Edison families. If you missed the BTSN event or the Senior Parent Meeting, please visit the Counseling Office's Youtube channel (Edison High School Counseling) to view the presentations. Grade deficiency notices are in. Parents please review your student's grades in ATLAS using the parent portal and connect with their teachers with any concerns. You can send an email to teachers to discuss your concerns. For your information, there are academic supports in place for those students who may need additional help. Please take advantage of these extra support so students stay caught up with their learning expectations.

We believe many students are struggling in balancing home responsibilities with school expectations during distant learning. Please let us know if you can use some help with time management skill development. Here is a short video to help organize your time. <https://youtu.be/HGzUyweEpci>

Distance Learning Tip: 1 -Create new structures and routines at home
2 – Manage your distractions
3 – Set small goals for yourself

SEL Tip: Learn from failure. Reframe failure from something to be feared and turn it into something that is necessary to learn and grow

Social Justice Tip: Embrace diversity. Befriend someone of a different race, ethnicity, religion or age, to explore your prejudices and gain a better understanding of the issues affecting them.

Remember the weekly school messengers will be posted on Edison’s school website at <https://www.fresnou.org/schools/edison>. All families with an email on file in ATLAS will receive an email of the school messenger as well. You can also like our Facebook page at facebook.com/EHSTigers or follow me on twitter@joeymunoz540.
